

Data is too hard today. It's time to shake things up.

We believe that data is a force for good.

We believe data can help people make better decisions.

We believe data needs to be easier

Our vision is to unlock the power of data for everyone.

Our mission is to make data easy to work with.

But there's a problem. Data is hard. Having to spend up to 80% of your time just preparing data (NYT 'Data Janitor' article, Aug 2014) before even getting to the 'real' work is rubbish. We call BS on this. It's time for a change. It's time to help people do more with data.

We make data our problem, so you can get on with what you're great at.

Utilising our patented IP, we excel at DataOps to provide fully managed Data-as-a-Service to agencies, companies and organisations around the world. Delivering trusted, timely data to power your dashboards, applications and businesses.

Going to work...

Powering The Hub Dashboard for
Hall & Partners

Hall & Partners

Omnicom market research agency Hall & Partners wanted to change the way they worked with and presented their clients' data. They designed and built their own data visualisation tool 'The Hub' to do this. They needed somebody to deliver data into The Hub, that's where DataShaka came in.

Hall & Partners rely on DataShaka technology and expertise to unify, quality check and manipulate data, enabling them to focus on needs, insights and amazing visualisations for clients such as Barclays Bank, AirBnB and PayPal.

We'd love to solve your data challenges, drop us a line and we'll get right back to you.

Or feel free to just drop in and say hi, you can find us here: